

About Medicare Part D

“Extra Help With Medicare Prescription Drug Plan Costs,”¹ or Low-Income Subsidy (LIS), May Be Available for Your Medicare Patients

What is Medicare Part D?²

The Medicare Prescription Drug Program, or “Part D,” offers prescription drug coverage to all Medicare beneficiaries. To obtain coverage, individuals enroll in either a stand-alone Prescription Drug Plan (PDP) or a Medicare Advantage PDP, administered by an insurance company or a private company approved by Medicare.

How much do patients pay under Part D?

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) sets a defined standard benefit each year, but plans are permitted to offer coverage (basic or enhanced) that is actuarially equivalent to this benefit. Nearly all plans opt to offer actuarially equivalent coverage, meaning that plans vary in terms of cost and drugs covered. The standard benefits design consists of a monthly premium, yearly deductible, copayments or coinsurance, and catastrophic coverage.²

Part D: Sample Cost per Tier Under Most Plans		Standard Copay Range ^{3,a}	LIS Copay ²
TIER 1	Preferred generic	Approximately $1 to $3 per drug	No more than $10.35 ^b
TIER 2	Generic	Averages between $7 and $11 per drug
TIER 3	Preferred brand	Averages between $38 and $42 per drug
TIER 4	Nonpreferred drug	About 45% to 50% of the drug cost
TIER 5	Specialty drug	About 25% to 33% of the drug cost
TIER 6	Select care ^c	Approximately $0 to $5 per drug

^aBlue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan data are being used as an example. Other Part D carriers may have both lower or higher copay amounts. The estimated cost information is for a one-month supply of drugs from an in-network preferred pharmacy.

^bCopay amount subject to meeting out-of-pocket threshold for some qualified patients (see reverse side).

^cThese are generic drugs used to treat diabetes and high cholesterol.

How can Medicare patients get “Extra Help” with paying for their drugs?

Some patients with LIS, such as those who are dually eligible for Medicare and Medicaid, are deemed eligible, whereas others must apply. Enrollees with low incomes and modest assets who have not already been assigned to a plan automatically can contact the Social Security Administration (SSA) or their State Medicaid Agency to determine whether they qualify. Examples of how subsidies can help are shown on the next page.²
